

OpenLivingLab Days 2019

Pitches to Venture Capitalists Session

5th September 14:00-16:00 PM

Q&A

What can we expect from the coaching workshop on the 4th September?

During this workshop, coaches from OK!Thess, a local accelerator, will support you in refining your pitch deck and submitted business plan to excel your pitch. There will be a coach available per two or three participants.

Would the VC's be asking any follow-up questions?

What is the best way to prepare?

All VCs and jury panel members will give feedback to challenge the competitive advantage and some key assumptions of your pitch deck. Ensure your pitch deck is ready specially when it comes to your financial projections as well as your costs. More information will be provided during the workshop at OK!Thess.

Can we have PowerPoint slides?

Yes. A Kawasaki pitch template and a reference financial sheet will be shared with all of you prior to the session to support your pitch preparation.

Who will be in the jury panel?

There will be a mixed panel of 4 to 6 members including angel investors and representatives from the financial and business sectors, as well as some selected guests related to the OpenLivingLab Days thematic tracks

What prize would the best pitch receive?

There will be funds raised from the main sponsors of the session such as the National Bank of Greece, the Business Plan Competition of Greece, Aristotles University and OK!Thess. We aim to provide a monetary prize together with valuable evaluation to make your business case stronger to investors.
